

Five Michigan Families Hit By Carrier Tragedy

(By The Associated Press)

Newsman and tersely worded by telegrams brought the grim news to five Michigan families that loved ones had died in the explosion-fire aboard the aircraft carrier Bennington Wednesday.

The Navy today listed the following Michigan men among victims of the disaster:

Douglas Goodrum, steward's man, husband of Mrs. Priscilla Goodrum, Detroit.

Henry D. Pendell, ensign, son of Mrs. Don Pendell, Detroit.

He "T. Wright" steward's mate, Detroit.

Gerald James Witvoet, Lt. j.g. son of Cornelius G. Witvoet, Grand Rapids.

Harold Loucks, 26, of Olivet, a civilian engineer.

The Others Burned

Listed as critically injured was Alfred Olivari, 3A, of Delton, Mich., and seriously injured, Cecil I. Harris, steward's mate, Detroit.

Listed as not seriously injured was Charles Maxwell Hunter, SN, son of Mrs. Jean Hunter, 9106 1st Ave., Detroit.

The Navy released the names of the casualties to newsmen at the same time telegram to the next of kin were dispatched.

Newsman checked the parents of Pendell ahead of the Navy telegram.

"Oh, no!" the father said. He and his wife had not been sure their son was on the Bennington.

Wife Hysterical

Pendell, who won his wings at Pensacola, Fla., went on active duty in August, 1952.

Mrs. Priscilla Goodrum, 25, became hysterical when newsmen informed her of her husband's death. Her sister, Mrs. Margaret Thomas had to speak for her.

Goodrum, 30, joined the Navy in 1947. He recently signed up for a new hitch and had been home on leave only this month.

Mrs. Goodrum, her sister said, had been highly nervous about her husband all afternoon and had "a premonition" of the bad news.

Wright, a veteran of nine years service, previously told his wife, Marguerite, he was trying to get a transfer off the Bennington.

"He called me only last Saturday," Mrs. Wright said. "He told me then how desperately he wanted to get off that ship. He had been with the Bennington crew when it was taken out of mothballs in 1952."

Shock To Parents

Lt. Witvoet's family learned the grim news through a telegram. The 25-year-old jet pilot had been in the Navy six years, serving on carriers.

A brother, Robert, 32, said his parents, Cornell, 62, and Geraldine, "were completely broken up by the shock."

Loucks, a 26-year-old electronics engineer, was employed by Westinghouse Corp. His mother, Mrs. Harry Shilts, said he had visited Olivet only 10 days ago. He was a graduate of Tri-State College in Angola, Ind.

It was the second tragedy in eight months for Harris. A 16-year Navy veteran, Harris escaped uninjured when the carrier Leyte was damaged by a mysterious explosion in Boston harbor Oct. 16, 1953.

His sister, Miss Yvonne Harris, said the family thought he had remained with the Leyte and had gone to sea when the carrier was repaired.

"It's the first we've known that Cecil was transferred to another ill-fated ship," she added.

Olivari had been in the Navy only about a year.

"I hope he'll get all right soon," his father said. "Since my wife died, Alfred has helped a lot with both the farm and the other 11 children."

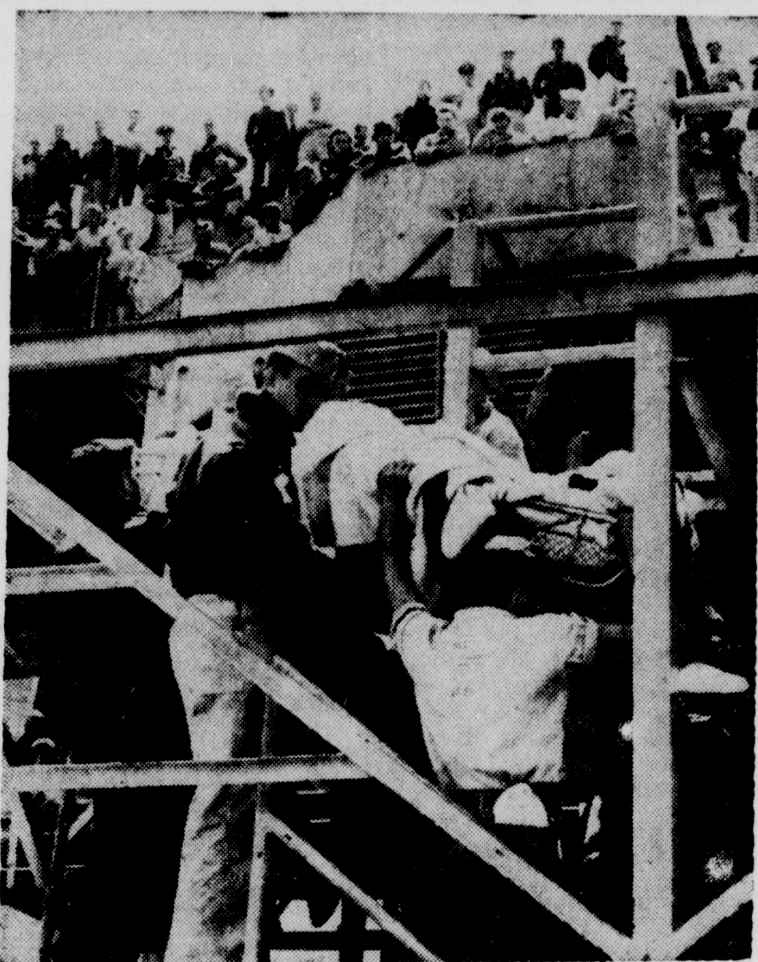

Olivari worked in a foundry in nearby Kalamazoo before his enlistment in the Navy.

School Attendance Officer Attacked By 20 Nude Mothers

GRAND FORKS, B. C. (AP)—A school attendance officer reported that 20 nude Doukhobor women of the Sons of Freedom sect attacked him Wednesday when he attempted to read a proclamation ordering them to send their children to school.

Ralph McIntosh said he was scratched and bruised and his clothing torn at nearby Gilpin.

Sons of Freedom members have refused to send their children to school on the ground Canadian institutions teach militarism. They frequently use nudism as a means of protest.

Whitewashing Charged In Army-McCarthy Scrap; Cohn Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roy M. Cohn today repeated under oath charges that Secretary Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams tried to "discredit" the McCarthy subcommittee and block its probe of alleged communism in the Army.

Cohn, chief counsel for the McCarthy subcommittee, was on the stand in the 22nd day of the Army-McCarthy hearings as the first direct witness for the McCarthy side. Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins reviewed a charge that Stevens and Adams sought to bring about "a discontinuance" of the subcommittee's investigation of alleged subversion in the Army, particularly at the radar laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

"That is true," Cohn said. At the outset of Cohn's testimony, Jenkins developed the young lawyer's background before joining the McCarthy subcommittee's staff in January 1953. Amid cries of "whitewash" raised by Sen. Symington (D-Mo) and over objections by the two other Democrats and the special Army counsel, Joseph N. Welch, the Senate Investigations subcommittee's Republican majority voted to dismiss the charges against McCarthy aide Francis P. Carr.

Coupled with this was dismissal of the charges filed by McCarthy against Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel. Neither McCarthy nor Welch objected to that but the Democrats did, arguing McCarthy had not had opportunity to present his case against Hensel.

Symington announced he plans to appeal to the full Senate from the 43 vote by which the charges against Carr and Hensel were thrown out. As things stand, he said, "I think this is a whitewash and I do not think we will get the truth."

Cohn was called as a witness as soon as the Army case had been completed Wednesday afternoon but the debate over Carr and Hensel was postponed.

Government Crisis Seen By Stevenson

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson declared Wednesday night that what he termed President Eisenhower's reluctance to defend his executive position and the "shameful spectacle" of the Army-McCarthy hearings were symptoms of a constitutional crisis in American government.

Stevenson said that what he called the President's "reluctance to man the barricades of his office" and resist what the Democratic leader described as "congressional encroachments" against his rights had left the Republican party with "as many wings as a boardinghouse chicken."

The televised hearings of the Army-McCarthy fight, he added, displays in public a Republican party which acts like a "blind dog in a meat house."

Marquette Base Gets $8,556,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The construction of air bases in Michigan was part of a bill passed in the House Wednesday.

The House voted 345-0 a bill authorizing an $877,090,000 program of military construction in this country, plus in its overseas bases and territories. The bill now goes to the Senate.

In Michigan, two new bases are planned for Marquette and near Traverse City.

A total of $8,556,000 was allotted for the construction of the base at Marquette, to be known as the K. I. Sawyer Airport. The site near Traverse City is undecided upon. A total of $8,635,000 was provided for its construction. The program also calls for $1,740,000 expansion of Wurtsmith Air Base, Oscoda, Mich.

Four Go After Injured Climber On Mt. McKinley

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Four men inched their way up Mt. McKinley's treacherous southern buttress today in a desperate attempt to save a mountain climber who was left gravely injured in a lonely, cold tent last Sunday.

The man in the tent is George Argus, one of three survivors of a 1,000-foot fall May 15 which killed the fourth member of their party, George Thayer, 27, Readsboro, Vt.

One Foot Slips

The rescue party is led by Dr. John McCall, 31-year-old University of Alaska glaciologist. With him are three crack mountain climbers from the Army indoctrination center at Big Delta, Alaska.

They were carried to the 5,000-foot level by an Air Force helicopter early Wednesday.

Morton Wood and Leslie Viereck, who were found in McKinley Park Tuesday just as a search was about to be started, told of the fall.

They said after conquering the southern buttress for the first time and starting back, they reached the 13,000-foot level.

"It was just a silly little accident," Wood said. "One of Thayer's feet slipped—probably because his clamped-on spikes lost their grip. He tumbled over the precipice and all of us went with him."

"I recall falling and falling," Thayer said because he struck a ledge sticking out of the cliff. Argus broke the fall by tumbling into deep snow which stopped him and pulled us all to a stop."

They all were roped together. After remaining at the scene of the accident for a week, Wood and Viereck tried to tow Argus down the mountainside on an inflated mattress but gave up at the 11,000-foot level. They left him Sunday in a tent. Argus had a broken hip and possibly other broken bones, they said.

Killed By Ledge

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—A dozen new defense plant projects worth more than 20 million dollars are being built in "distressed" cities through the tax benefit program of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

ODM officials said today the 12 factory and terminal buildings and plant additions will, when completed, furnish 1,639 jobs in 10 of the cities on ODM's list of "areas of chronic labor surplus."

No Job Panacea

The largest, from the job standpoint, will employ 600 workers in making ammunition containers at Pottsville, Pa. The smallest is a coal cleaning plant employing 10 at Uniontown, Pa.

There are indications, ODM officials said, that many other cities now are stirring themselves to attract new industries with help of the special tax allowances granted by ODM in unemployment-hit areas. ODM's first tax certificate under the program was issued in January.

The agency emphasized, in launching the program, that it was "not a federal panacea for unemployment," because only defense-supporting industries qualify for the extra tax help and ODM itself takes no initiative in steering plants to areas of chronic unemployment.

Percentage Boosted

Firms in about 90 industries can obtain ODM "certificates of necessity" entitling them to write off in five years, in depreciation for federal tax purposes, a stated percentage of the cost of new plants. The usual write-off period runs about 20 years.

If the company decided to locate in a distressed area, ODM boosts the percentage of cost entitled to a fast write-off. The amount of extra help ranges from 10 to 25 percentage points.

ODM decides what cities and towns are "areas of chronic labor surplus" on the basis of the Labor Department's list of places having 6 per cent or more unemployed.

Aircraft Carrier Disaster Toll Counted At 91 Dead, 201 Injured

QUONSET POINT, R. I. (AP)—The Navy counted 91 known dead today and 201 injured, many of them critically, in the devastating explosion-fire aboard the aircraft carrier Bennington 75 miles at sea.

The 32,000-ton carrier, a proud bearer of numerous battle honors in World War II, was rocked by the disaster early Wednesday off New England.

Trapped In Bunks

A violent blast on the second or third deck below the flight deck was followed by searing flames which roared through many forward compartments. Then came at least one more explosion.

Scores were trapped in sleeping quarters. Many suffocated. Many perished in the flames.

The disaster, one of the worst in peacetime U. S. naval history, was the second aboard a carrier in New England waters in less than a year. Last October, 37 died in an explosion and fire on the carrier Leyte while she was docked in Boston.

Investigation Begins

A four-man court of inquiry, headed by Rear Adm. John M. Hoskins, commandant of the Quonset Naval Air Station, was named to begin investigating today.

Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas, who flew to Quonset for a quick inspection, and Capt. William F. Raborn, Jr., Bennington skipper for only a month, said there was no indication of sabotage.

Raborn, from Oklahoma City, said the cause of the explosion is "a mystery to me."

"All leads have proved groundless," he said. "There was nothing explosive in the area where the explosions took place."

The "best information," he said, is that the blast occurred "possibly at the five-inch fuse magazine." He emphasized that this information had not been confirmed.

Planes Clear Decks

The big carrier was en route back to Newport, across Narragansett Bay from Quonset Point, on a routine training mission.

Aboard were four squadrons of about 130 men each which make up Air Task Group 181, based at the Oceana Naval Air Station near Norfolk, Va.

The squadron boarded the Bennington last weekend.

The blast shook the Bennington just after the first of the four squadrons had been launched—a common practice aboard carriers nearing air bases.

"Realizing a serious catastrophe occurred we launched the rest of the air group to free the decks for casualty control," Raborn said.

The planes, many of them jets, took off for Quonset as surface craft and helicopters were summoned by radio.

Two Navy and four Coast Guard helicopters met the carrier 20 miles from port and evacuated scores of seriously injured to the Newport Naval Hospital. They'd pick up injured on the deck of the carrier, fly to Newport, then return for more. They continued until the carrier docked slightly more than six hours after the blast.

Heroic Crew Praised

Although the exact location of the blast could not be determined immediately, it was in the forward part of the ship near the officers' wardroom.

Capt. Raborn had highest praise for all personnel aboard the carrier, which carries a normal complement of 2,800.

"I am damn proud to be commanding officer of such a heroic crew," he said.

Republican Leaders Say Congress Will Adjourn By July 31

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican leaders today stuck by their predictions that Congress should adjourn by July 31 despite Democratic doubts that it will.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, told newsmen after a meeting of the Democratic Policy Committee Wednesday that Congress would be lucky to go home by Aug. 15.

But Republican Leader Knowland and California and Chairman Ferguson (Mich.) of the GOP Policy Committee, said today in interviews they remained optimistic about the end-of-July target.

"I have not changed my estimate at all," Knowland said. "Assuming we will receive a degree of cooperation (from the Democrats) on legislation yet to be acted upon, I don't see any reason why we can't meet it."

There are in the Senate 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats, 1 independent and 1 vacancy.

Johnson cited a long list of items on President Eisenhower's program yet to be considered.

Included are the tax revision bill, social security, farm price supports, health legislation, housing, foreign aid, reciprocal trade, revision of the Atomic Energy Act and an increase in the national debt limit.

The biggest legislative logjam is in the Senate, partly because the House limits debate while the Senate cannot.

Wife Tears Up New Car Money

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—Alton Ferguson and his wife started out to buy an automobile Wednesday and wound up in jail with a $500 jigsaw puzzle.

Both were charged with disorderly conduct, and 27-year-old Esther Ferguson was charged with disfiguring currency.

Mrs. Ferguson told police her 33-year-old husband took $800 she had saved while working as a housemaid and went to buy a used car. She followed, pleading for the money, then pretended to relent and asked to help count it.

She grabbed $380 and ran down the street. When police caught up with her she had torn the money into bits and had stuffed some of the pieces into the bosom of her dress.

Mrs. Ferguson, a jail matron and four policemen spent five hours taping bits of currency together. The Fergusons were held in jail overnight.

Tension Grows Inside Jittery Central America

PANAMA (AP)—Tensions increased in jittery Central America today as U. S. customs inspectors at the Atlantic mouth of the Panama Canal ransacked the cargo of a French freighter—presumably for contraband arms.

An agent of the French Line at Cristobal said a search of its 8,693-ton freighter Wyoming began Wednesday night "in connection with the business in Guatemala." He obviously referred to U. S. charges that leftist Guatemala recently received a large arms shipment from behind the Iron Curtain.

Only Sporting Guns

The agent declared, however, "There are no arms or contraband aboard." He said the ship carried only sporting guns.

The Wyoming was en route to El Salvador, Guatemala, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Vancouver, B. C.

U. S. State Department officials said in Washington the ship was being searched to determine whether customs regulations have been violated. The officials stressed that no suspicion had arisen with respect to the French Line itself.

They said both the line and the French government were cooperating in the inspection.

The State Department announcement said: "The ship's manifest reflects a miscellaneous cargo comprised principally of machinery."

"Included are five boxes of sporting arms, but it is understood that no question is being raised about these."

Honduras Gets Weapons

One Washington source said, however, U. S. authorities had received information indicating there might be more than five boxes of "sporting arms" aboard.

Reports reached Washington late last week that two more shipments of Red arms were en route to Guatemala. The Red-tinted Central American nation allegedly had already received a 10-million-dollar cargo from the Polish port of Stettin.

Reports from Guatemala said a mystery plane swooped over that Caribbean republic Wednesday night and scattered pamphlets which called Guatemalans to fight Communist oppression."

F from neighboring Honduras came word that several planes had arrived with arms sent that country under terms of the U. S. defense agreements. The United States is rushing military equipment to both Honduras and Nicaragua.

The U. S. Air Force announced in Washington that three of its big intercontinental B36 bombers will make a demonstration flight over Nicaragua today at the request of the Nicaraguan government.

Circuit Court Session Ends

The May term of Delta County Circuit Court came to an abrupt end this morning following a ruling by Judge R. W. Nebel that a question asked a prospective juror was improper and that the case be declared a mistrial.

The case of Edward Janonowicz, administrator of Walter Janonowicz, deceased vs. Blanch O'Connor, administrator of the estate of Eileen Kjelgren, deceased, had been called and H. Vielmetti, attorney for the plaintiff, in questioning the first prospective juror, asked him if he were a member of any mutual insurance company.

Attorney Denis McGinn for the defense promptly objected, declaring that the question was improper for the reason that it implied that the case was of a different nature than the one set forth in the complaint. The judge sustained the objection and declared the case a mistrial. It was continued to the next term of circuit court.

This action was followed by the dismissal of jurors called for the term, bringing to an end one of the longest court sessions in years.

The only jury case tried in the current term—Mary J. Dwyer vs. the City of Escanaba—a personal injury suit, ended in disagreement. The case went to the jury yesterday noon and up to 8 last night, the jurors were still in deadlock. Judge Nebel accepted the jury's declaration of failure to agree and the case was continued to the next term.

This term of court, which began on May 10, is notable in one respect. More than 60 cases which have been on the docket for years, were dismissed and in several cases judgments were rendered. An unprecedented number of divorce actions were also heard.

Light Rains To Continue Here Into Tomorrow

Continuance of overcast skies and scattered showers into tomorrow, is forecast by S. W. Kipper, of the Escanaba weather bureau. There will probably be a bit more rain than has fallen thus far today, but it is not likely to be heavy, says Kipper.

This morning's precipitation started about 6 this morning and by 10 amounted to .02 of an inch. Temperatures are below normal though fairly constant. Yesterday's high was 52 degrees, the low early this morning 47 and had warmed up but 2 degrees by 10 this morning. Temperatures will remain about the same tomorrow.

Power Conference:

Three Private Utilities Offer New Proposal To Alger-Delta Cooperative

Directors of the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association will receive a new power supply proposal, incorporating electric rates lower than those offered the Cooperative last November, from three private power companies—Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company, Wisconsin Public Service, and the Upper Peninsula Power Company.

The offer was made at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in Alger-Delta offices in Gladstone. The power companies had requested the meeting.

Raymond Berger, president of Alger-Delta, said the new proposal should be made in writing and that it will be considered by the Cooperative.

To Offer Lower Rates
Representatives of the power companies said the new rates to be offered will be approximately:

For Alger-Delta's southern area, 14¢ cents per KWH, which is about the present rate paid Wisconsin-Michigan, compared to the previous offer of 1½¢ cents; and 1 3/10¢ cents per KWH for the northern Alger-Delta area, compared to the offer of 1 7/10¢ cents made last fall.

In discussion the directors of Alger-Delta appeared to take a dim view of the new proposal, because they said it does not offer "a permanent solution to the problem of power shortage in the area."

They pointed out that no new electric generation for this area is contemplated in the offer; that the nearest power plant of the companies is 60 miles distant; and that power would be "fed into the area from the fringes."

"Competitive Situation"
(Alger-Delta has been granted an $8,257,000 loan by the Rural Electrification Administration to finance construction of a 15,000 KW generating plant and to extend its transmission lines. The loan was approved Jan. 8, 1954.)

R. E. Williams, Appleton, commercial manager of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company, said the new proposal to be submitted by the three companies "recognizes the competitive situation." By accepting the new proposal Alger-Delta would save the cost of its investment in both plant and transmission lines, he said.

John H. Worden, Houghton, president of the Upper Peninsula Power Company, said a new 22,000 KW plant is being built by his company at Marquette.

"We want to cooperate in meeting the power needs of the area," he said. "The proposal we are offering the Cooperative gives you the opportunity to care for your power requirements on a cost basis less than if you build your own plant and transmission lines."

Loan New Factor?
Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Alger-Delta manager, and Max Stanley, Muscatine, Iowa, the Cooperative's consulting engineer, called the new offer "no solution" to the power shortage problem of the Delta County area.

They also disputed statements that it would be more economical to buy from the three private power companies than to build an REA-financed generating plant.

"The power companies knew they were expected to bring in their best offer last fall," Stanley commented. "They knew then the Cooperative had applied for a loan to build a plant. The only thing that has happened since then is that the loan was approved."

Nieuwenkamp added: "It looks like the power companies tried to get all the traffic would bear last fall, and then when the loan was approved they reduced their bid."

Escanaba Problem
Stanley asked what the private power companies contemplated doing to solve the power shortage situation for the city of Escanaba. (Alger-Delta is offering Escanaba a 10-year contract to supply "surplus" power from its proposed generating plant.)

"Can you cooperate with a community of 15,000?" Worden, president of the Upper Peninsula Power Company, asked in reply.

"I ask you. What do your companies propose other than to feed power in from the fringes?" Stanley queried.

"I right now cannot answer that problem specifically," Worden said. "But definite steps are under way."

Solution Sought
"Would you sell power wholesale to Escanaba?" Stanley asked. Worden replied that he could not answer at this time.

"If Alger-Delta accepts your latest proposal, would it advance your plan for Escanaba?" Stanley questioned.

"I don't understand," Worden said. "I don't know. First we would take care of the Cooperative, and then the other. I am not at liberty to discuss it at this time, but it will come out shortly."

One of the power company representatives said he understood that Alger-Delta is "confused in its negotiations with Escanaba."

"The confusion has been created, but not by us," replied Nieuwenkamp.

Williams of Wisconsin Public Service asked: "If the Escanaba problem is solved by its people, would the Cooperative continue on? Would it feel the need of building a power plant?" "You base your question on something that has not happened," Nieuwenkamp answered.

Basis For Loan
Ralph Foreman, Washington, D. C., Rural Electrification Administration director for the northeast area, present at the meeting, reviewed the studies made of the power shortage in the area. He noted that the loan was approved on the following basis:

1—That Escanaba and Gladstone were in need of power as well as the rural areas.

2—The $8,257,000 loan was handled and authorized by "Republicans."

3—Legality of the loan on basis of the studies made was determined by the REA legal staff.

He quoted Ancher Nelsen, REA administrator, as saying: "Here is an opportunity for REA to do a service for a whole community."

(Escanaba and Gladstone representatives, together with Alger-Delta officials, went to Washington Oct. 14, 1952, to seek approval of an REA loan for Alger-Delta.)

At Conference
John McCarthy, Lansing, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission, urged cooperation in solving the power shortage problem. "Our place in this picture is to do to the best of our ability what is best for the people," he said.

Representatives attending the meeting were:

R. E. Williams, Appleton, commercial manager; J. K. Babbitt, Appleton, assistant engineer; and W. Dougovito, Iron Mountain, manager northern division, Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company.

H. P. Taylor, Milwaukee, vice president and treasurer; A. U. Stearns, Menominee, divisional manager; H. I. Miller, Oshkosh, manager, rates and research, Wisconsin Public Service Corporation.

John H. Worden, Houghton, president, and L. D. Powell, Iron River, manager, Upper Peninsula Power Company.

Raymond Berger, president; Nieuwenkamp, manager; W. J. Van Effen, engineer; Lyle Wilson, vice president; Harry Sederquist, secretary-treasurer; and Directors Julius Sivula, Semer Thorsen, William J. Vinette, Edwin P. Johnson and Henry Glaser of Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association.

His father served in France in World War I with Battery D, 81st Field Artillery. His brother, Airman 1/c Robert Judson of the U. S. Air Force, now is stationed in Lincoln, Neb., after serving in Japan.

MEMORABLE BATTLE

The Battle of Jutland is memorable as being the only occasion throughout World War I on which the rival battle fleets met. It left the British fleet undisputed master of the German fleet up to the day of the latter's surrender.

Harnischfeger Asks New Foreign Trade Policy For U. S.

ROCKFORD, Ill. — Responsibility for foreign trade development must be returned from State Department to the Department of Commerce if export business is going to create its share of jobs in the United States, Walter Harnischfeger, world traveler and export trade authority, told the Rock River Valley World Trade Conference Tuesday.

Harnischfeger is president of Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee, manufacturer of material handling, construction and welding equipment, diesel engines and prefabricated houses.

Sound Policy Urged

Realistic industry-by-industry and country-by-country trade development by carefully chosen commercial attaches, working with advisory committees of business men experienced in foreign trade, should be the cornerstone of a sound export policy, Harnischfeger claimed.

Taking issue with the "freer trade" proposals of the Randall Commission, Harnischfeger said that other countries' import licensing and controls, rather than U. S. tariffs are the principal obstacle to world trade.

"The United States is no longer a high tariff country," Harnischfeger said. "Between 50 and 60 per cent of our total imports are free of duty, and the average tariff level on dutiable items has been reduced from around 50 per cent to about 12½ per cent since 1934.

Needs Cited

"State trade agreements, quotas, licenses and many other restrictions are worse than tariffs. A good export representative these days must be more than a salesman; he must also be a linguist, lawyer, banker and fixer."

"Three out of four nations now license imports, while 55 out of 80 require exchange permits. The power to license, and thus control, imports has completely nullified tariff reductions and rendered supposedly liberal trade quotas meaningless."

Harnischfeger said that the prevalence of import controls, and the great differences in wages between America, Europe and the Far East, make maintenance of some selective tariffs essential to protect our workers. Free trade may be desirable in some mass production industries where labor costs are relatively low.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Timber Survey
Planned In U. P.

Forest Supervisor C. L. Harrison of the Upper Michigan National Forest announces the beginning of a new timber survey project effective June 1.

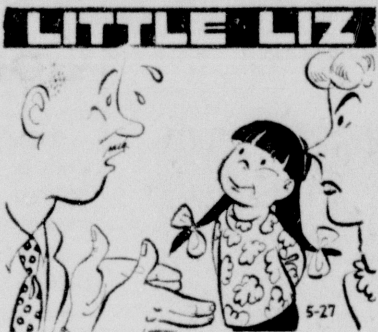

The project involves the mapping and estimating of lands within the boundaries of the Hiawatha and Marquette units of the Upper Michigan National Forest for the purpose of obtaining accurate timber type maps and timber volume data to be used in the compilation of up-to-date timber management plans.

The data gathered will permit the establishing of accurate timber cutting budgets and will facilitate the orderly harvesting of timber products in the National Forest areas of the eastern half of the Upper Peninsula.

The project involves the use of new infra-red aerial photographs flown in 1953 in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Conservation and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Additional flying of areas west of Manistowic is contemplated for this coming summer in order that the entire Hiawatha National Forest and adjoining areas will be completely covered with new aerial photographs.

Personnel to accomplish this work are reporting for duty on June 1, at Escanaba with headquarters in the Post Office building. Harvey W. Seeley, presently of Park Falls, Wis., is the project leader. He will be assisted by Clifford E. Crosby, also of Park Falls, and Marvin W. Pearson of Grand Marais, Minn.

The project is expected to last from 18 to 24 months with initial work starting on the Marquette unit at Moran, Mich.

St. Ignace School
Student Is Victim
Of Heart Attack

ST. IGNACE — Sixteen-year-old Roger L. McCarty was found dead alongside the Portage Road about 8:15 a. m. Wednesday after he had refused to accompany other students to school.

Death has been attributed to a heart attack, according to Michigan State Police and the coroner's report.

Young McCarty is the son of woodcarver Ralph McCarty, formerly of Trout Lake and now operator of the Indian Totem Village west of St. Ignace along U.S. 2.

The boy and several other students had left the school bus to walk the balance of the way to school, and were playing with a baseball while walking the road. Suddenly young McCarty sat down along the roadside and refused to go on with the group. He told them he was not going to school.

Without further argument, the other students left him and went their way.

Shortly afterward, the driver of a city dairy truck noticed the boy in the grass along the roadside, and on investigation determined that he was dead.

Pump Water Half
Mile To Prevent
Spread Of Fire

MENOMINEE—The fire prevention engineers of the underwriters associations say it can't be done and their manuals say so in black type but this morning Chief William Sporrer and his fire laddies proved it could be done.

They laid 2,850 feet of fire hose from Little River on County (River) Road 581 to a straw stack next to a barn on the former Schumacher farm at County Roads 557 and 581 which had been set afire by children playing with matches.

The water was pumped from the stream a half-mile away with the 500-gallon pumper the department has on "loan" from the state, and the firemen kept the blaze from spreading pending arrival of a bulldozer of R & R Tractors, which was maneuvered around to push the stack back from the barn. Between 15 and 20 tons of straw were in the stack.

Magnesium was produced at the rate of 250,000 tons a year at the peak of World War II.

Ferguson For Voting At 18

Senator Homer Ferguson, in a last-minute appeal for favorable action in the Senate, declared the proposal to lower the voting age to 18 was "in the best interest of the Nation".

The Senate last week defeated the proposal 34 to 24, considerably shy of the two-thirds vote needed to approve a constitutional amendment. Twenty-seven Republicans and seven Democrats supported the measure while 24 Democrats voted against it. Thirty-seven Senators did not vote.

The Michigan senator outlined five basic reasons for his support of the legislation, which had been recommended by President Eisenhower in his state of the union message.

"First, persons who have reached the age of 18 are competent and able to exercise their voting rights. They have reached the age of intellectual development which would qualify them and have just completed their high school education which included instruction in citizenship and government. They have that information fresh in their mind at 18," he said.

Senator Ferguson declared the nation could expect a high rate of participation among voters in the 18 to 21 age group if the legislation were approved. "A high percentage in this group will actually vote, especially in contrast to their elders who stay away from the polls in dismaying numbers." He also said younger voters would spur interest and encourage older voters to go to the polls.

He pointed out that the public opinion polls indicate most people favor the lowering of the voting age, including those in the 18-21 age group, and said he would not favor the legislation unless those in the 18-21 group had generally indicated their willingness to assume the responsibility for voting. "Any step which this Nation can

The Senate vote apparently kills any chance at approval of the 18-year-old vote at this session of Congress.

Editorials—

State Legislation Needed For Tax Equality In All Counties

IN a recent editorial discussing the effect of the decision of Attorney General Frank Millard that the state assessed valuation must be used for tax purposes in counties with fractional school districts, we erroneously and unintentionally used the tax assessment figures for the City of Escanaba and credited them to Delta County.

The 1954 assessed valuation in Delta County is $33,598,628. The state equalized valuation is $39,875,000. The valuation in Escanaba is approximately $15,000,000 and the state equalized valuation in Escanaba is approximately $18,000,000. The latter figures were erroneously credited as the comparative figures for Delta County in the recent editorial.

The attorney general's ruling means an additional $90,000 in tax revenue in Delta County. This money will be divided between the schools and the county government on the basis of the tax allocation formula. For Escanaba schools, for instance, it will mean seven mills tax on an additional $3,000,000, or about $21,000 additional. For the county government, it will mean eight mills tax on an additional $6,000,000 or about $48,000 more. The remainder of the money will go to township schools in proportion to the assessed valuations of their township property.

This unexpected bonanza virtually solves the financial problem of the schools and the county government in Delta County.

The whole problem, however, is far from licked yet even assuming that the attorney general's decision stands up under pressures that inevitably will come.

The unfortunate aspect of the attorney general's decision is that it applies only to counties that have fractional school districts, areas where school districts overlap in two or more counties. Such is the case in Delta, Menominee and Marquette counties.

Other counties, however, are unaffected by the decision of the attorney general. In many cases the local assessments are far lower percentage wise than they have been in Delta County in relationship to the state equalized valuations. Last year our local valuations were 86% of the state's equalized figures. Some counties were under 50%.

The effect upon is in the court's ruling is to provide more money to operate our schools and county government but also to place our county in a disadvantageous position to attract more industries.

We may now find, for instance, that as a result of the attorney general's ruling some counties with whom we may be competing for the attraction of new industries may boast comparable tax rates (on the basis of valuations) only half as large as ours.

The whole problem can be rectified by enactment of state legislation requiring all counties to use the state equalized figures as the basis for their own assessments. Certainly if the state can legally require some of the counties to use the state figures, in the interest of fairness and justice to all concerned, all of the counties should be required to use the state figures.

Compromising With The Devil

PRIME Minister Nehru of India never wants the world to forget his gullibility in international affairs. He manages to offer us a new sample almost every week. Nehru's defenders point out again and again that he is keenly conscious of India's relations with its powerful Communist neighbor to the north—China. We can acknowledge this awareness—and admit, too, that he is a shrewd national politician.

If he were to put his case in these hard terms, criticisms would be few in realistic quarters around the globe. But he does not rest with that.

He stretches his apologies for China and Russia beyond all need of practical concern for India, allowing his understandable sympathies for fellow Asiatics to blind him to ruthless tyrannies.

And he tries to arrogate unto himself the power of a great spiritual leader, failing to realize that men who temporize with tyranny cannot generate the moral force required for such leadership.

Human beings who can muster any moral strength at all are not looking for the sort of neutrality which calls for a compromise with the Devil. Nehru is slow to learn.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is the difference between an appropriation and an authorization?

A—An authorization grants permission to establish or continue a certain program, puts a ceiling on monies that can be appropriated to finance it and specifies the general aim of the new program. Congress also makes contract authorizations, permitting the government to make financial commitments by letting contracts for goods and services. An appropriation is a grant to actually spend the money authorized, often less than the amount authorized.

thing, and the excessive eating is merely a method of comforting herself. Sympathetic understanding and management may be of great help.

A DIFFERENT KIND of a problem comes from Mrs. M., the mother of another 11-year-old girl. Mrs. M.'s daughter has a habit of constantly staring at the ceiling, which is most noticeable when she awakes in the morning or is tired or upset.

If this is the only sign of anything unusual, the chances are that it does not come from any physical cause, though one would want to be sure that the child has not sustained any head injury or exhibits any other significant symptoms.

One would think that this peculiarity would be outgrown without any serious difficulty.

A FINAL INQUIRY comes from Mrs. L., who says that her three-year-old daughter likes to chew up strings, ribbons, pencils, and anything that contains rubber. She will also eat ground coffee.

This taste for peculiar substances goes under the medical name of "pica." Its exact cause is not known, and I believe Mrs. L. would be wise to seek the advice of her doctor.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The huge senate caucus room, scene of the off-again, on-again McCarthy hearings, was the stage for another hearing last week at which the television cameras were significantly absent. In many respects, however, it was far more important to the man in the street than the escapades of Messrs. Cohn and Schine.

Though the kleig lights were low, the stakes were high, because television itself was on trial—in fact, the whole future of the industry will be affected by the findings of a senate subcommittee headed by GOP Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan.

Potter and his colleagues were investigating a dog-eat-dog battle for the control of TV channels and their advertising gold.

The Potter subcommittee, specifically, is probing for answers to an alarming state of monopoly and restraint of trade affecting both VHF (very high frequency) television, the kind most of us look at, and UHF (ultra high frequency) television, which provides more channels and better reception.

It is common knowledge in the industry that the two major networks which televised the McCarthy-Army hearings as a public service—ABC and Du Mont—are fighting for survival against the wealthier, more powerful NBC and CBS networks. NBC and CBS have not televised the McCarthy hearings because they encroached on valuable advertising revenue. Du Mont and ABC did televise, partly because they had little advertising to be disrupted.

WEAK-KNEED FCC

Unless congress, or the Justice Department or the weak-kneed Federal Communications Commission does something to checkrein the snowballing monopoly, both ABC and Du Mont will eventually go under. Neither can cope with the big-time competition of CBS and NBC, which blanket the popular television hours on week nights and Sundays with hit programs sponsored by Ford, RCA, General Motors, General Electric, Colgate-Palmolive, Standard Oil, Benrus Watches, Philip Morris, Chesterfield, Lucky Strike, Camels, Lipton's Tea, and other big advertisers.

The programming favoritism by these powerful commercial sponsors is even tougher on UHF stations, whose advertising market is limited by the fact that home viewers require special receiving sets to dial in UHF programs. This limited market does not appeal to TV hucksters with products to sell.

There are now 250 VHF stations on the air, compared with only 127 UHF stations. Most of the latter are either losing money or struggling to break even. Others lucky enough to have network affiliations in areas not blanketed by VHF stations, are making a little money. Several already have folded.

The tragedy is that the Federal Communications Commission has encouraged the construction of UHF stations, both because they are capable of improved reception (as FM stations in radio) and because the frequency spectrum will accommodate a much greater number of them than VHF transmitters.

The FCC has estimated that the spectrum is capable of more than 1,300 UHF television station assignments, against a national maximum of approximately 500 VHF stations. In addition, while VHF stations are limited to 12 channels in the spectrum, UHF stations can operate on 70 channels, from channel 14 through 83. However, after encouraging the investment of private capital in UHF, the FCC hasn't lifted a finger to keep UHF stations in business.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION

In fact, the FCC seems to have made a policy of discriminating against UHF stations in cases where there has been a conflict of interest with better-heeled VHF competitors. In Atlantic City UHF station, WFPG, recently was driven out of business by VHF competition from Philadelphia, 40 miles away. The Federal Communications Commission simply increased the power of the big Philadelphia stations which drowned out Atlantic City and put WFPG out of business.

A similar close-out occurred in St. Louis, when KACY-TV, operating on UHF channel 14, had to shut down because it was unable to get network programs. Jack Garrison, president of the station, told the Potter subcommittee:

"Forty-nine days ago, my station suspended service to the 2,000,000 people in greater St. Louis. It was at that time the most powerful UHF station in America, operating from the highest tower in the market, with the largest and most complete studios staffed by experienced television people.

He said he opened his station on the advice of two members of the Federal Communications Commission, who told him that "UHF offered the best opportunity for an early start in television and that we would have from two to three years to establish UHF in our area before there would be additional VHF competition."

However, Garrison would have been much better off had he not taken the FCC's "advice." Not only was he unable to get "a single network program," but the FCC welshed on its promise not to approve any additional VHF competing stations in St. Louis.

Note—One FCC member who has consistently foreseen and fought monopoly in television and who has championed UHF stations under Democratic and Republican administrations, is the FCC's lady member, Frieda Hennock. More about her in a later column.

UNITED NATIONS, New York (NEA)—"Have you come to cover the funeral of the United Nations?"

So spoke a friend as I entered UN headquarters in Manhattan. His gloom clouds every corridor in this modernistic glass pile built to house a brave new world in which justice would wield the only sword.

For now the diplomats play in Geneva the ancient game of power politics: tanks and planes are the cards the Communists bet Dien Bien Phu and the French pass.

The UN as a meeting hall for peace is ignored by the contestants at Geneva, as it was ignored at last winter's Berlin conference. The three terrible issues of today—Korea, Indo-China, Germany—are out of UN hands. No wonder the talk of "funeral." The UN is being snubbed to death.

Ten years ago Winston Churchill was taking a bath in the White House when Franklin Roosevelt, elated over victories in the West, called through the door: "How about naming it 'United Nations'?"

Churchill agreed. And thus a tag was created for the organization that lifted the hopes of billions of white, black, brown and yellow peoples—and then drowned their hopes in a sea of words; words without deeds.

Ten years ago the politicians of the world spoke of a "new court of justice." And so the little people came for their day in court. There was the intellectual Czech who told of police clubs that beat the freedom out of his country.

There was the man with skin like polished black tile who wanted to know why his African tribesmen could not walk the main streets of their own cities.

There was the hollow-eyed Ukrainian woman who thought something should be done for the 10 million shuffling shadows in the slave camps of the Soviet Union.

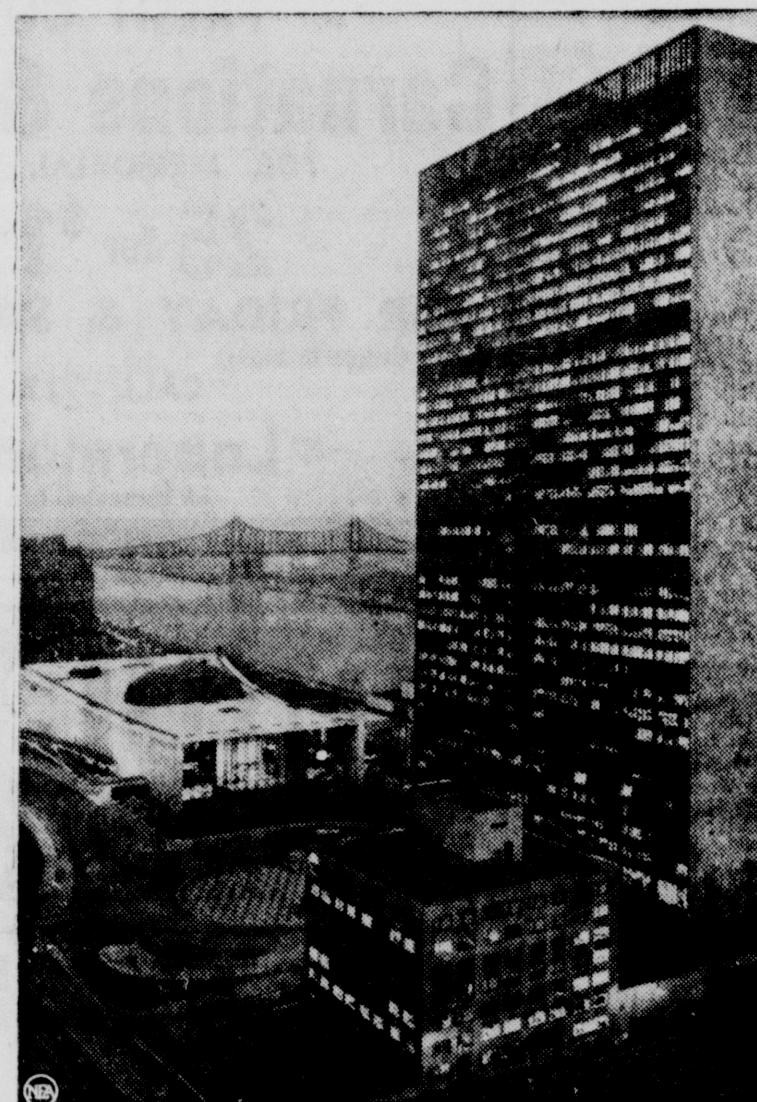

They came . . . and then they went home without results, broken, bitter, having learned that the old law of life had not been repealed: power still owns justice, might makes right.

In the wake of this disillusion has come a strange and often insane hatred. Match books are circulated in New York stamped with: "Get the UN out of the U. S.—and the U. S. out of the UN." Citizens who have seen so much of killing crowd the squares of Seoul to chant: "The UN has sold us out."

In the eerie light of a jungle campfire Mau Maus swear a blood oath as their leader cries: "We can expect nothing from the UN—it is the tool of our oppressor." In the shabby tent camps of the Moslem refugees next the old city of Jerusalem two men with red fezzes, sluggish from a meager diet, post a sign lettered in shaky Arabic: "Remember the UN—it helped steal your home."

Supporters of the United Nations insist these people have expected too much—at least they have a forum. For example, there have been appeals for mistreated South African minorities. UN has done nothing.

But spokesmen for the oppressed have "embarrassed" South Africa and improvements—ever so slight—have been made by the government itself. The argue: Publicity is a UN weapon.

UNITED NATIONS, NEW YORK: As a meeting hall for peace, it is ignored by the big power contestants at Geneva.

But while the Soviet Press plays up weaknesses in the Free World, the Communists cannot be "embarrassed" by bad publicity at home. In their half of the earth censors have taken the old line "No news is good news" and added "for communism."

However, those who plead for the UN say it has forced Soviet diplomats to operate on a global stage. Their arrogant performance has offended millions in a free world audience who—10 years ago—thought they were bearable.

Each "veto" shriek from the mouth of a Vishinsky does more to brand Russia "non-cooperative" than a million accusations by anti-Communist orators.

Even about this there are doubts. An American Legion representative writes: "We can expect nothing from the UN that will not serve the Soviet Union."

Opponents feel the Soviets care not about bad publicity abroad—but are delighted to watch the Free World divide itself as we have on colonies, racial segregation, Israel vs. Arabia, recognition of Red China, equal responsibilities in the Korean War . . .

And two of our strongest hopes for the defense of Asia and Europe—Japan and West Germany—are impatient because they are denied admission.

So the debate continues. It is no longer on "How much good will the UN do?" but "Is the UN worthwhile?"

The American people, in a recent poll, approved continued membership in the UN by 85 per cent—but with equal agreement said they had little faith in the ability of the UN to solve specific problems.

Largely responsible for today's global gloom are the politicians of 1944 who treated UN with the same with carelessness they treat

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE COOPERATIVE—A meeting was held in Gladstone the other day and we attended it, by invitation, along with other representatives of press and radio.

The invitation was from the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association and the meeting was in the Cooperative's offices—a modern one-story building displaying all kinds of electrical appliances sold to the Cooperative's members.

Not being well acquainted with cooperatives and their programs, knowing only that they are considered "controversial" in the world of private enterprise, we had expected to find something "different" about the place and the meeting. But such was not the case.

The meeting, attended by about 25 men, was conducted by Raymond Berger of Wilson, president of Alger-Delta. The meeting room was crowded, but you find that condition exists at almost every conference.

AND COOPERATION—There was considerable talk about cooperation at the meeting—cooperation between private power interests and Alger Delta, which distributes electric power but does not have a generation plant.

But no voice was raised from the private power people in praise of Alger-Delta for successfully negotiating a federal loan of $8,250,000 with which to finance construction of a generating plant and extend its transmission lines.

It was clearly evident that any "power pool" for this area does not include the cooperation of any private power source except the Upper Michigan Power & Light Company of Escanaba, a subsidiary of Mead Corporation.

Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Alger-Delta manager, commenting on the refusal of a private power company to interconnect with Alger-Delta, said:

"We would like to get along. We believe in cooperation. We must work together. But you want to cooperate with us when you want to, in the way you want to."

TWO PHILOSOPHIES—There was evident in this meeting room—a neat and modern room representing the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association—two distinct philosophies.

Ross Williams, Appleton, Wis., commercial manager of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company, expressed the private power viewpoint in describing its relationship as a supplier of power to Alger-Delta.

"When we started out with the cooperative it was a little dog. Now it is a big dog—"

"A boxer?" suggested the Alger-Delta manager with a grin.

"A big dog," continued Williams, smiling, "with an elephant hanging to its tail!"

The inference was that Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company is ready and willing to do business with a small public power dog, but when it has an $8,250,000 federal loan "hanging to its tail" the picture has changed materially. Particularly when that loan will set Alger-Delta up as a competitor in the power generating field.

The viewpoint of the cooperative was perhaps best outlined by its President Berger, who said:

"Our first interest is in bringing good electric service at reasonable rates to the rural people. But we cannot overlook our neighbors in the city in making a decision that also affects them. We want to do what is best for all the people of the area."

ESCANABA'S POSITION—There may be some persons who are still unaware that Escanaba has a stake in the power talks going on between the private utilities and Alger-Delta.

Alger-Delta's proposal is to supply Escanaba with "surplus" power from its generating plant.

In Escanaba there is a division of opinion on whether it would be wise to contract with Alger-Delta. The reasons behind the opposition vary, but one is most often heard: The opposition is against "public power" in any form.

Yet to this date there has not been one private power company that has indicated an intention to construct a generating plant to ease the power shortage in the area.

The meeting at Gladstone closed amicably enough. Yet while the Cooperative's directors and the private power company officials mingled to chat, their viewpoints on what constitutes a solution to the power shortage remained a world apart.

The Doctor Says . . . Brutality to Children Marks Both Their Bodies and Minds

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

It is unbelievable the way some people raise their children.

Recently, M. has written: "Do you think it harams a child to be slapped across the face when correcting him?"

"I know a woman who often uses this method, and I have seen her slap the child, leaving her hand prints on his face."

"She said it did not hurt the child to use this method, but the youngster is very nervous."

There are, of course, possibilities of real physical harm from such incredible brutality to a helpless child. And it is no wonder that the youngster is nervous.

This kind of cruel handling is likely to have grave emotional and psychological effects all through life.

A LESS-DISTURBING inquiry comes from a mother who is concerned about her 11-year-old daughter, who has a 35-inch waistline, and 30-inch hips. She does not look well in her clothes, and "loves to eat."

Here, in all probability, is a simple problem of eating too much. The mother should obtain advice on exactly how much and which foods her daughter should eat.

One of the problems will be to keep the youngster from eating in-between meals.

Another aspect of the situation is that perhaps the child is unhappy about some-

THE STORY: Because teenagers will have hot rods and reckless driving leads to wrecks, Ricky Madison's father suggests something that may help solve the problem. That is a "drag strip" and an organization of hot rod drivers to promote safety.

THE petition had been signed by 18 boys, 12 of whom owned their cars. Sharon had typed it, and Ricky, as founder and first president of the Dellville Timing Association, had been chosen to present it to the city council.

Shortly before the council was scheduled to meet, all the members of the DTA gathered in the Dellville Drug, some with their girl friends. The place was jammed with non-purchasing patrons. The petition was in a brown manila folder, and lay on the counter of the soda fountain. Ricky stood near it, and Sharon stood next to him. There was a loud hum of excited conversation, laughs, yells and loud shop talk. Big things were happening in old Dellville.

Sharon looked at her wrist watch. "You'd better get started in a minute or two."

Ricky looked around for something he could use to bang for attention. Right next to him, oblivious to the noise, Sherm was deep in another comic.

"Hey, Sherm," Ricky said. "I need something to use for a gavel. Let me have your head, will you?"

Sherm reached in his pants pocket and pulled out some change. He held his hand out to Ricky without looking up from his book. "How much do you need?"

Ricky whooped and slapped him on the shoulder.

There being nothing to pound with, Ricky got up on one of the stools and cupped his hands over his mouth. "Hey! Shut up!"

The noise lessened to a normal hum. Ricky leaned down and picked up the petition. "Has everybody read the petition?"

"Yes!"

"Remember, you guys," he shouted at the crowd, "you gotta stick to what you signed. No chopping corners on our part. Understand?"

"Yo!"

"Now do all members have their membership cards? The ones we mimeographed?"

"Yo...yo..."

"Now all you guys with cards... have you all paid your dues?"

There was a loud mass groan.

"If you haven't paid, Sharon will take your dough."

THE COUNCIL was already seated at its table. Mayor Travis, a red-faced retired coal dealer, sat at their head. Buell Jones, the city clerk, sat to his left, busily writing. Two council members, Gus Vorkle and Charles Trumm, sat to Ricky's left as he faced the table. The other two, George Reynow and Ricky's father, sat on his right.

Something like two hours and 35 minutes after the council began its meeting, it was ready to hear the petition. Ricky was half asleep, his throat parched, his head splitting when the big moment came.

The mayor tapped with his gavel. "I believe you had a petition, young man..."

Ricky stood up, his legs numb. "Yes...sir, I have a petition that I would like to read at this time."

Ricky's voice sounded dead and flat, just as had the others. By now there were no more than half a dozen members of the DTA in the room. Arnie VanZuik had come in, and was sitting to one side, soaked with sweat and dozing, his hands folded over his stomach.

"If you will just file the petition with the city clerk," the mayor said, "it will be read and considered by this council in due time,

I am sure. Now if there is no further business..."

"Mr. Mayor." It was Ricky's father, his voice crisp. "It was understood that the council would hear the petition tonight. This petition is no surprise to us, and these young people have waited patiently for their turn to bring their business before this council. I believe we owe them the right to listen to what they have to say."

"What's the council think about it?" the mayor grunted.

"Let him read it," Trumm said, yawning. "Get it over with."

"All right, boy," the mayor said. "Get on with it."

Ricky cleared his throat. "This petition is being made in the name of the Dellville Timing Association. It is signed by 18 members."

Ricky looked at the council. The mayor was sitting back in his chair, breathing through his mouth. Vorkle was doodling on a pad in front of him. Trumm's head was back and a cigaret dangled from his lips. Reynow sat slumped in his chair, a look of tired suffering on his face. Only Ricky's father looked interested. He smiled at Ricky, and nodded for him to begin reading.

RICKY wheezed through the petition and then carried it to Buell Jones. Sharon gave him a quick smile of praise as he returned to his seat, but he was too tired to smile back. He was so tired that what he had read didn't make sense even to him.

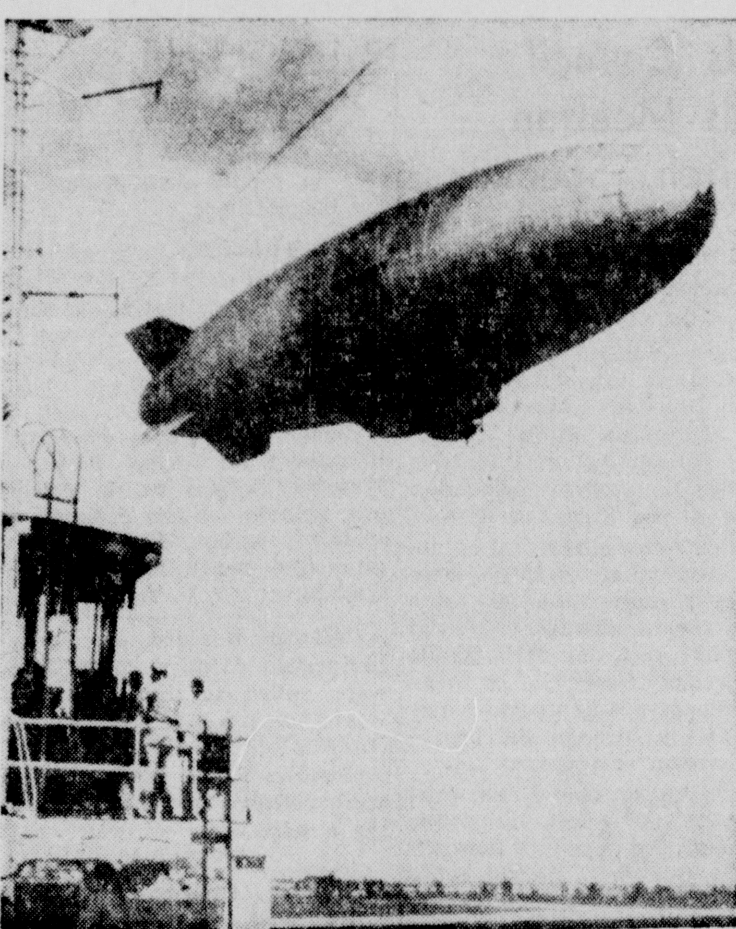

Mayor Travis roused himself and blinked at the council. "You heard the petition. What is your pleasure?"

Gus Vorkle put down his pencil. "I heard it. What I want to know is what it's all about? I couldn't make head or tail out of all the mumbo-jumbo."

"What's this about the Cosgrove road being used as a race track?" Charles Trumm demanded.

Wounded Congressman Bentley To Get Gala Reception At Owosso

OWOSSO (AP)—Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.), wounded in a spectacular shooting in the House of Representatives March 1, came home today to a rousing welcome. The 35-year-old congressman flew into Tri-City Airport in the private plane of Donald Mitchell, an Owosso industrialist. He appeared wan from his hospitalization. Honking horns and cheers drowned out the 70-piece Owosso High School band as Bentley stepped from the plane to be greeted by an estimated 100 well-wishers. In a brief speech Bentley said he was "moved" by the reception and that it was "great to be back." He added that he couldn't "adequately express my gratitude for your messages of cheer and good will" while recuperating from bullet wounds inflicted by fanatical Puerto Ricans who opened fire in the House. A 10-car motorcade escorted him from the airport to his Owosso home. Bentley will be guest of honor at a public reception at Saginaw's Shrine Club tonight. He plans to return to Washington Sunday.

Speed Record Pilot Dies On Bennington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Wallace Rich, 28, killed Wednesday in the explosion aboard the carrier Bennington, was one of the three Navy pilots who last month set a new unofficial cross-country speed record, the Navy said today. The Navy said he made the flight last month in an F97 jet from San Diego, Calif., to New York, a distance of 2,438 miles, in 3 hours 47 minutes 9 seconds.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market stepped ahead briskly today and then in the early afternoon backed down from its best under light profit-taking. Wednesday the market went to new highs, and that action brought on selling to cash in on profits today. Gains went to around a point at the best. Losses were not numerous and almost all were fractional. Trading hit a high pace around 2½ million shares for the day. Wednesday's total came to 2,180,000 shares. The opening of the market brought out some sizable blocks including U. S. Steel up ¼ at 49¼, Bethlehem Steel off ¼ at 70½, and Republic Aviation up ¼ at 33½. U. S. government bonds were steady.

unselfish crew of American seamen," he said. Ens. Robert Grant of Brooklyn, N.Y., his hair and eyebrows singed and raw bleeding cuts on his ankles, refused medical attention to aid in the evacuation of other wounded. He told of "five guys" literally vanishing when a hatch was blown in by the terrific blast. He said he formed a hand chain with some men who worked their way to the starboard side forward. On the way, he apparently lost consciousness and was pulled out.

Many Suffocate

James F. Witham, 23, of Somerville, Mass., a quartermaster, said the escape hatch from his compartment was "cluttered with bodies of injured and dying men." "We couldn't open the escape hatch to help them and the heat was terrible," he said.

Seaman Edward Cushman of Milford, Conn., and two companions said they "listened" to their trapped buddies die from suffocation as shipmates tried to reach them. Cushman was able to talk with the trapped men by phone. Still stunned, he told newsmen: "I talked with those guys for an hour and three quarters. They were pleading to hurry up and get to them before they ran out of air."

"We told them to lie face down with wet rags over their faces, but it didn't help much. The last words I heard were 'This is my last breath.'"

SAVED BY CIGARETTE

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A cigarette in the early morning haze that covered the aircraft carrier Bennington, was the only barrier between a Dexter naval airman and death.

Airman Kenneth Gregory telephoned his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gregory of nearby Dexter Wednesday night to tell them he was all right.

Gregory said he had left his five buddies in their room asleep and went above decks for an early morning cigarette. Minutes later the ship was shaken by a terrific explosion.

He said he made his way through the smoke back to the room. All five of his mates were dead.

Mrs. Gregory said, "It's a miracle that our son is still alive."

Kent County Man, 62, Held As Wife Killer

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A 62-year-old unemployed Kent County laborer was held by police in the shotgun death today of his 37-year-old wife.

Sheriff Arnold Pigors said the body of Mrs. Laura Colley was found in her home seven miles south of Grand Rapids after her husband, Samuel, had told a married daughter who lives nearby that he "had done something."

The daughter, Mrs. John Ypma, called police. Colley was arrested near his home in a hysterical condition, Pigors said, and had not been questioned.

Pigors said he had learned the couple quarreled Wednesday night over a daughter's attendance at a picnic.

Colley was the father of 10 children.

Wells Council Holds Meeting, Ruwitch, Speaker

The Wells Township PTA Council met last night at the Pine Ridge School for its final session of the school year.

Clarence Sundquist, president of the Council, introduced George Ruwitch, assistant Superintendent of the Escanaba Public School system. The subject of Ruwitch's talk was the special education facilities of the Escanaba schools.

Ruwitch explained that the special education rooms were established more than 20 years ago for the purpose of providing educational facilities for pupils who because of physical or mental handicaps are unable to benefit profitably through the ordinary classroom experiences.

"Every child should be provided with the education which best meets his needs," Ruwitch said. To this end the following special rooms with trained teachers have been established. The orthopedic rooms and physical therapy rooms help to train the physically handicapped in the use of muscles. The sight-saving room is equipped with the types of learning materials which can help the partially blind. The oral-deaf room helps the very hard of hearing child learn to communicate with his associates. The ungraded rooms train the mentally retarded youngster to adjust as a useful member of society.

Ruwitch showed a film made in Escanaba showing the techniques of teaching these handicapped youngsters and the facilities provided by Camp Harstead. He also gave credit to the Lions Club, Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club for their financial assistance in supporting this program.

Special Meeting Of Escanaba Council To Be Held Tuesday

The Escanaba City Council, Planning Commission and Power Advisory Committee will meet jointly in special session Tuesday night, June 1, in City Hall, not Thursday, June 3, as previously reported.

Purpose of the meeting is to permit the three groups to confer in connection with an alternate site for the Algoma Electric Cooperative's proposed power generating plant in Escanaba.

The alternate site will be suggested by the Power Advisory Committee.

Representatives of Alger-Delta Cooperative also have been invited to attend the meeting.

SHINE OFF DUTY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pvt. G. David Shine has been temporarily relieved from military duty, and its accompanying curfew, for assignment to the Senate subcommittee investigating the Army-McCarthy row.

The Army first disclosed the shift today. Then Committee Counsel Ray H. Jenkins said he asked for it after Shine had complained that the curfew hour he had to observe at Ft. Myer, Va., interfered with his working with Sen. McCarthy in the case.

Shine used to work for McCarthy as an unpaid consultant and has a central role in the McCarthy-Army controversy. The Army charges the McCarthy group brought improper pressure on the Army to get preferential treatment for him; the McCarthy camp charges that the Army used Shine as a "hostage" to force the committee to go easy in its investigation for alleged Communists in the Army.

Jenkins said today he intends to put Shine on as a witness "before the case ends."

After a bearing adjustment, a front wheel on an automobile should spin freely with a slight degree of side-play being apparent; binding will ruin the bearing.

Church Of Ascension To Be Dedicated In Ontonagon Sunday

The new Church of the Ascension in Ontonagon will have its formal dedication services on Sunday, May 30, according to the announcement from the Diocesan office in Marquette. At the Escanaba Convention the Rev. W. Leighton Burgess and Bishop Page extended invitations to all the parishes and missions to participate in this event.

"We feel most anxious to have as many of our people as possible see this very attractive plant," said Bishop Page. "It embodies many new features which will prove valuable in small churches."

Harry W. Gjelsteen of Menominee drew the plans for this building. It represents a modified Gothic in wood and its warm colors in the Chancel and Nave have greatly added to its attractiveness.

The Rev. W. Leighton Burgess, vicar, will preach the sermon at the dedication, while Bishop Page, assisted by many of the clergy of the Diocese, will dedicate both the building and such articles of church furniture as have arrived. The Church of the Ascension is the oldest Episcopal church in the Diocese, having reached its hundredth anniversary in 1953.

Starlings habitually roost in the center of large cities but fly to the countryside each day to feed.

A good whiskey's like a gentleman's beard... it sort of grows on you!

Nobody, I figure, ever read a whiskey advertisement and ran hot-foot to the store to switch his brand.

No, Sir—like all friendship—it takes time. You have Schenley at a friend's home, and it tastes right good. One day you buy a bottle yourself. Then pretty soon, you won't settle for anything else.

Matter of fact, making good whiskey is a patient process, too. That's what this hourglass is about.

The glass itself represents Nature's unhurried goodness. The big "S" stands for Schenley's skill. Together, they make Schenley the best-tasting whiskey in ages.

If you're not a customer already, we hope to have the pleasure soon.

Radio Hams Try To Span Nation

By EDDIE LEE
ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The first official attempt to span the continent by amateur radio relay on two meters is scheduled Saturday and Sunday and New Mexico hams apparently hold the key to success.

In a manner reminiscent of the early days of radio, messages will be passed from station to station all across the country. It's never been done on the two-meter amateur band—a very high frequency band where transmissions are normally limited to a relatively short distance.

"The toughest place to cross is the Arizona-New Mexico-Texas Panhandle stretch," said A. David Middleton, one of the leaders in the project. "Towering mountains and the distance between the communities pose particular problems," he said.

The project was conceived by the Two Meter and Down Club of Los Angeles. The Albuquerque VHF Club and similar organizations and individuals all across the country will take part.

At opposite ends of the relay are the headquarters of the Los Angeles club and the headquarters of the American Radio Relay League in West Hartford, Conn.

The ARRL is a national organization of hams formed 40 years ago to handle just such relays as this.

The average two meter signal will travel between 100 and 200 miles. An unofficial practice relay attempted last Sunday failed when the messages going both ways bogged down as the result of weather conditions which interfered with reception at Amarillo and Sandia Crest, east of Albuquerque.

"They'll try it again this week with several added stations."

"The day might come when a two-meter relay across the country could prove a lifesaver in getting an important message through," Middleton said.

Fliers Safe As Plane Crashes In Flames

NEWARK, Del. (AP)—An Air Force twin engine plane crashed into a lumber yard in downtown Newark Tuesday night and exploded into a terrific blaze. No one was injured in the fire and both the pilot and copilot safely parachuted over the city.

The C-45 exploded on impact and the flames, fed by a half million dollars worth of lumber, leaped 100 feet into the air.

THE BACKFIRE — The cigaret-case gun brought to West Germany by a Soviet agent on a death mission backfired on the Russians after the agent turned himself over to Allied authorities. "Paix Et Liberte," an anti-Communist group in Paris, France, erected this huge propaganda sign showing the agent using the gun to kill. The sign reads, "A friendly gesture from the Russians—the cigaret that goes boom."

Schools Can't Have Free Memorial Day

LANSING (AP) — What's on your docket for Memorial Day? Picnic, a ball game, or just plain loafing in the backyard?

Many of Michigan's school kids will envy you. They'll have to attend school on Memorial Day.

This was the word from Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of schools. He explained:

Sunday legally is Memorial Day. The School Code insists that school districts receiving state aid should have at least 180 days of learning. If Monday is declared a holiday, many districts would have to extend their schedule one day to hit that figure.

Among schools in session Monday will be Consolidated School, Macomb County, and Troy Township schools of Oakland County.

The name of the island of Jamaica in the West Indies derives from the Indian word "Xaymaca" (Isle of Fountains).

Rock

Music Festival

ROCK—When people from Rock and Perkins gathered at the Rock High School Monday evening for the annual Music Festival, there was something different than the usual piano recital. In addition to the many accordion solos and a duet, the Rock Accordion Band entertained the audience with five selections during the course of the program. The band consists of six accordion players and two drummers.

Five students from Perkins participated with piano selections.

John Small accompanied the High School Chorus as it sang several songs from the Gay Nineties era with Nancy Saari, Sharon Sayen and Linnea Johnson as soloists. Mr. Small was also master of ceremonies.

Patrols Ready For Holiday Jam

LANSING (AP) — All weekend leave days for state policemen were ordered cancelled as the state police prepared for heavy Memorial Day weekend traffic—and possibly a record death toll.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said accidents in the first three months of this year are up 14 per cent over the same period a year ago.

"We are using every available man on traffic law enforcement to apprehend those who are or may endanger others by their recklessness," Childs said. "And we are following a policy of strict and rigid enforcement."

Childs said cancellation of pass days from Friday to Monday, plus the use of men on special assignments, will be equivalent to a 20 per cent increase in patrol activity.

Union Rejects GE Wage Offer

NEW YORK (AP)—The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) has rejected as "completely inadequate" an offer by the General Electric Co. to raise wages four to five cents an hour.

The offer, made Monday, was turned down Tuesday by the IUE's General Electric conference board. The board said the offer was completely inadequate in terms of the needs of GE workers and the nature and danger of the company work.

The unions estimate GE wages now average $1.88 an hour.

The IUE's GE conference board Tuesday directed all locals to hold sessions of their executive boards, stewards and members at once "to inform them fully of the nature and danger of the company offer."

The IUE negotiating committee, however, planned to resume contract talks with GE representatives next Wednesday.

The IUE and UE have demanded unspecified wage increases and other benefits.

Michigan Solon Causes Stir, Says: To Hell With The President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A remark by Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich.)—"to hell with the President"—caused a brief flurry Tuesday at a closed meeting of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Lesinski made the comment when told the President might veto proposed alterations to a federal employee pay-raise bill under consideration.

Colleagues remonstrated briefly but, since no written record is made of executive sessions, there was no need for Lesinski to withdraw the remark.

"I didn't mean the office of president or the person of the President," Lesinski explained to a newsman. "My remark was directed at the President's reported position on this particular matter."

Lesinski, of Dearborn, Mich., is a Navy veteran of World War II.

GOOD FEEDING

by AL JOHNSON

NORTHERN FLOUR & GRAIN

ESCANABA, MICH.

HOG PROFITS DEPEND on good hogs, proper feeding and good management. A two-litter system utilizes labor and equipment efficiently. It puts hogs on high markets. Good buildings and facilities, plus a strict sanitation program are necessary because legume pastures are not available to spring pigs before they are 2 to 3 months old.

EXPENSIVE HOUSING is unnecessary. Dry bedding, adequate ventilation and plenty of exercise will keep sows and gilts healthy. Keep water available at all times. Provide legume hay if sows and gilts are not on pasture.

TO CARRY LITTLE PIGS safely over the early, critical period, put your faith in the best—Occident 20% Pig Starter. Here's a feed scientifically formulated for creep feeding. Too, for a highly digestible, low-priced substitute for sow's milk, depend on Occident Pig Milk Replacer. This carefully blended formula is expertly blended to assure top results every time!

NEXT TIME you're in town, stop in and see us... we'll be glad to tell you why Occident Pig and Sow Feeds will take your animals to market faster... for top profits.

The first week which is shortened by one day, is set at $15.50.

Transportation Provided
The fee includes the cost of insurance that will cover all campers from the time they leave home for camp until they return. Girls who stay more than one week will be charged an extra dollar to take care of Saturday dinner and breakfast and lunch on Sunday.

Transportation will be arranged for every girl leaving from Bay de Noc Council. They will check into camp after 2 p. m., on Saturday preceding the week they are attending.

Each girl who attends must have a medical examination. These exams should not be made more than 4 days before leaving for camp. At this time the remainder of the camping fee is due.

Registrations should be made with group leaders for Camp Fire Girls. Non-Camp Fire Girls should contact Mrs. Edward C. Olsen either at 861 or 3251 E. Any questions regarding facilities or requirements should also be referred to Mrs. Olsen.

Equipment Needed
The following is a suggested list of what to bring, published by the Chippewa County Council of Camp Fire Girls who are the administrators of this camp: clothing—slacks or jeans, sweater or jacket, raincoat or coat, warm scarf, 2 blouses, T-shirts, 3 changes underwear, changes of socks, blue skirt, white blouse, Camp Fire tie, rubbers and 2 pair of shoes, shower shoes or old sandals; bedding and linen—3 woolen blankets, double or 2 single sheets, pillowcase (pillow provided), ground cloth—10' sleeping out—10' clothes line, towel, wash cloth, soap, toothbrush, comb and brush; miscellaneous—good reading, Camp Fire manual, flashlight, notebook and pencil, stationery, post cards and stamps; most important—swimsuit, cap, and beach towel; and if you wish—jack knife, camera and film, musical instrument. Work Progresses On DeMars House

Roofing of the new home for the Eldred DeMars family at Cooks was completed this week and siding now is being nailed, Wilfred Johnson, construction foreman for the community project reports.

Windows and outside doors have been installed, and the chimney was completed Sunday. As of Wednesday, a fourth of the siding had been put in place.

Work on the 5-room house was started earlier this month and Manistique carpenters "roughed-in" the building the first day. Another work bee on the house is scheduled Sunday and volunteers are needed, Johnson reports.

When completed, a 3-bedroom home with kitchen and living room will be available for the Eldred DeMarses, whose home was destroyed in a fire last winter. The family now is living with his parents, the Arthur DeMarses, at Cooks.

Funds for the project, in which both city and rural organizations are participating, were obtained through two benefits held here last winter. A financial report from trustees of the fund is scheduled to be released in about two weeks, when the house is completed.

Germfask 4-H Work Will Get Underway Tonight

Summer 4-H Club work in the Germfask area will be organized at a meeting to be conducted tonight by Clayton D. Reid, county agricultural agent.

A similar meeting was held earlier this month in Cooks and a large number of youths enrolled for the 4-H work.

Young folks in the 10 to 20 age bracket are eligible to participate in a variety of 4-H club work, ranging from animal and plant projects to photography and home economics.

City Audit Will Start June 7

The annual audit of records of the City of Manistique will be started June 7, W. A. Moreau, city treasurer, reports.

The auditing this year will be handled by the Lawrence Scudder company of Marquette.

Authorization for the work to proceed was granted at the meeting of the City Council this week.

Tests Show City Water Supply Safe To Drink

"Tests made here and at Escanaba show that Gladstone's water supply is safe," City Manager H. J. Henrikson said yesterday.

This reassures local citizenry some of whom had gained the impression the water here was unsafe because an official of the Upper Peninsula office state health department had said our water and sewage treatment plants were not acceptable by present state standards at a commission meeting Monday night.

Recently, while the local sewage plant was shut down for repairs, Russell Johnson, Escanaba, engineer for the State Health Department in the Upper Peninsula, had a test made on water from the pumping station. This was on May 4. On May 10 he advised the city commission by letter that the sample had showed a coliform contamination which coupled with the treatment plant shutdown could prove a health hazard.

Tests Differ

The analysis for the same date made by City Water Analyst Flora LaRoche also indicated coliform but as is common practice in such cases the chlorination was increased at the clear well and the test the following day showed the condition had cleared up.

In his letter to the commission, Johnson made a number of recommendations including extremely high chlorination, checking for turbidity and color and sending samples daily to Powers for analysis at the state laboratory.

A water sample taken on May 12 and sent to Powers was declared unsafe following the test.

However, the analysis for the 12th, made by Miss LaRoche showed the water safe as did the analysis made by The Escanaba water department where a sample taken at the same time had been sent as a cross-check.

Again on May 20 a sample was sent to Escanaba and the report on the analysis indicates no reaction.

Plant Oversize

Whether Gladstone's sewage treatment plant is up to state standards is a question apparently open to argument.

It was designed by competent engineers and the plans approved by the Michigan State Health Department.

It was designed to handle sewage for a town of 7,500 population and Gladstone's population today is about the same as at the time the plant was constructed.

In declaring the plant sub-standard, the only reason advanced by Johnson in answer to a question by Dr. O. S. Hult, city health officer, was that there have been days when the plant, designed to handle 600,000 gallons daily, had 800,000 gallons go through it.

Not Overloaded

Actually, this is not overloading

Memorial Day falls on Sunday, May 30, so it will be observed on Monday and as a result stores will be closed and business at a standstill that day. Observance of the day is being arranged by August Mattson Post, American Legion.

the plant, City Manager Henrikson points out. The heightened water level caused a great amount of water to enter the sewage mains through pipe joints and increased paving of streets had caused heavier run-off of water into manholes and then into the sanitary mains.

However, there is little if any solids in this.

The shutdown at the plant was caused, by an accumulation of sand in the plant. The plant was built without a grit chamber which would have collected the sand and allowed removal without hampering plant operation.

Johnson in a second letter to the commission pointed out that if Gladstone had a parallel plant it could be taken over while one was down for repair. A grit collector could be constructed but at considerable cost.

City Manager Henrikson told commissioners that he believed that a method could be devised so that the sand could be removed from the present plant without shutting down.

District Team Shoot Winner

A team from District Headquarters, Marquette, won the Upper Peninsula State Police Pistol Shoot held Tuesday at the prison range in Marquette with a score of 1052 x 1200.

In second place was Marquette Post No. 81 with 1030 while Gladstone Post was third with 1028. Manistique was 4th with 1017, L'Anse had 967, Wakefield 958, St. Ignace 953, Newberry 944 and Iron Mountain 909.

On the winning team were Lt. Baril, Detective Strong and Detective Bartelli. On the Gladstone team were Troopers George Craft, Francis DesJardin and Ed Lenon. Lt. Baril won individual honors with a total of 387 x 400, just 13 points off of perfect. Second was Cpl. Rodgers with 377, George Craft and George Strong were tied with 364, with the latter winning the place by virtue of a better score in the Rapid River Round, while Sgt. Modders was 5th.

ST. JOE TROJANS — The St. Joseph Trojans baseball team, boasting a record of nine wins against two losses this season, will close out the home campaign against Gladstone this afternoon at the city diamond. The Trojans travel to Negaunee for the final game of the year Saturday.

Esky Bears To Play Bark River Monday

The new Escanaba Bears will be unveiled for the first time in a Monday afternoon exhibition game at Bark River against the defending Tri County League champions. Bears' manager Bob Dufour today named his starting lineup to face the ace Bark River hurler, Ernie LaChapelle.

Mel Karkkainen, fireball right-hander, will open on the mound with Bud Kennally behind the plate. Ed Gauthier will be on first base, Bob Rodman at second, Charlie Camps at shortstop, John Martinec at third, Joe Ricci in left field, PeeWee Marenger in center and Wally Flath in right.

If a hand injury keeps Ricci out of the lineup, Dufour will take over an outfield spot. Dick Lough, Clem Sharkey, Ray Evans and John Jasinski will also be available for duty, Dufour said.

The lineup shapes up as one of the strongest to represent Escanaba in recent years. Karkkainen will be making his first pitching appearance here since leaving for the service several years ago. He was the scourge of the Tri County League when in action for the Bears.

Babe Ruth League Opens Tuesday

The official opening of the Babe Ruth league will be held next Tuesday evening at Memorial Field and will feature two games of hardball and a softball contest.

Kiwanis will face L&R in the opener at 5:30 with the Elks opposing AFL in the second game at 7. A regular American League softball game between Northland Bread and Harnischfeger will wind up the program at 8:30.

Drawings to determine the four Babe Ruth league teams participating in the doubleheader were conducted by president Kenton Olson at Club 314 last night. Regular loop action will get under way next Saturday with all six teams swinging into action at Memorial Field.

Register Next Week For Baseball Leagues

Registration for the recreation department baseball leagues will start Tuesday, June 1, at Club 314. It was announced through Art Petersen, recreation director.

Boys seven through 17 years of age may register until next Friday from 4 to 6 p. m. Deadline for registration is June 14.

Paul Vardigan will be in charge of registration and league play. The program included 130 players last year.

Escanaba will be facing a pitcher of no mean ability in LaChapelle. The vet chucker set Daggett down with a no-hit, no-run performance in his first start of the 1954 Tri County League season last Sunday.

Remainder of Manager Babe Kleinman's Bark River team will be at full strength for the holiday clash.

With the long-time rivals set for a classic contest, a large crowd is expected to be on hand for the first pitch, slated for 2 p. m.

The game is one of a number of exhibition tilts being scheduled by the Bears this summer. The team was not organized last season and reorganized on an independent basis this year in an effort to get baseball back on its feet on the senior level here.

Looks Like Davey's Through After TKO

CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Davey, one of television's first national sports heroes, appears through as a professional boxer.

Davey, a 34-year-old undefeated through a series of warmups, backed by the International Boxing Club, to a title fight 15 months ago.

Then welterweight champion Kid Gavilan burst the bubble. He stopped Davey in the 10th.

Vince Martinez, in the same Chicago Stadium ring, did it faster Wednesday night than Gavilan.

Stopped By Doctor
The fight was stopped after the sixth round by the Illinois Athletic Commission's doctor, after he examined Davey.

It was ruled a seventh round technical knockout.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Seems like the Escanaba High School golf team has a corner on the Class B Upper Peninsula crown... Coach Jack Magnusen's linksmen have topped Class B competition in three straight years... And each year they get better... In the 1952 championship match they won with a 373 score... In 1953 they took top honors with 361 and this year they cut 20 strokes from that figure to win with 341... Iron Mountain was runnerup each year... As far as we can determine, Bill LeMire's hot 75 score is the lowest ever registered in a U. P. finals match.

The 1954 Green Bay Packer situation is rapidly shaping up... Latest big name to ink a Pack contract is Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota's gift to Wisconsin pro football... The 235-pound, 6-3 giant fills a big center and linesbacker hole... Tobin Rote, half of the Green Bay one-two punch at quarterback with Babe Parilli, was signed the other day... Tonnemaker is the 29th player signed by new coach Lisle Blackbourn thus far.

The recent 44th annual Upper Peninsula Bowling Association tournament held in Ironwood distributed a total of $7,090 in prize money to winning kegglers... Hauling home the most cash was the Miners State Bank team of Iron River, whose members earned $340.

The Tri County League made a wise move in rewriting that regulation which prohibited members of the loop from playing the Escanaba Bears... It was undoubtedly passed without serious thought and could accomplish nothing good... The league retained only that portion of the original motion which prohibits any player on the Bears from playing with a league team.

Davey's Through Loss To Martinez

"But I will recommend that he quit the ring now. He was 100 per cent in condition coming into this bout. What happened? I don't know. His legs, he didn't have it there. I asked that the bout be stopped after the doctor looked at Davey."

"Our projected fight with Art Aragon (signed for June 25 in Los Angeles) is now out the window."

Martinez kept Davey, the ex-Michigan State collegiate champion off balance with strong left jabs—something unheard of by a right-hander against a southpaw like Chuck.

And when he threw his rights, the balding Davey was shaken down to his dancing feet. Davey

Cars Ready For Sunday Stock Race Show Here

Cars from Ishpeming, Marquette, Negaunee, Marinette and the Escanaba area are set for the second stock car racing program to be held at the fairgrounds dirt track Sunday.

The Escanaba Racing Association was represented at the Marquette meeting this week and plans were made to hold the Memorial weekend races at the two sites on different days.

On Sunday, the qualifying trials will begin here at 1:30 with the races starting at 2:30. Drivers and cars will shift to the Marquette track for action on Monday afternoon at the same time.

The dates were separated to give all drivers and cars an opportunity to take part in both racing events this weekend, officials announced.

The racing season opened here last Sunday with a small field and a fair crowd on hand. More cars are ready for action now and a large field is expected from throughout the U. P.

Among the new drivers who will be here Sunday is Okie O'Kasen, Marquette, who reports his car is in shape and ready to ace. The fast Car No. 33, driven by John Pierpon of Powers last year, is also expected here Sunday.

The popular trophy race will be a feature of the program again on Sunday, Association officials said. Last week's winners will be back in competition in addition to the new cars.

Harnies, Merchants Notch League Wins

Harnischfeger and Merchants notched victories in American League softball action at Memorial Field last night.

Les Kamine twirled a two-hitter as the Harnies blanked Rapid River 8-0. His mates backed him up with an 11-hit attack off the slants of Lefty Lake.

The Merchants took advantage of loose play by the Paper Mill to post a 9-1 victory. Paper Mill committed seven miscues in the field.

Franny Lancour allowed the Millers five hits as he pitched the route for the Merchants. Bill Courneene gave up seven from the Paper Mill mound. The Merchants played errorless ball.

Big innings for the winners were the second, with three runs, and the sixth, with four. Louis Kostitzky led the Merchants with a double in his three for five.

The two Rapid River hits were a double by Orton and a single by Lake.

Willie Mays In Hot Batting Streak

New York Giants Revived

By BEN PHILEGAR
AP Sports Writer

New York Giant fans, still basking in the fading glories of 1951, bragged today about a five-game winning streak, then cautiously crossed their fingers. Brooklyn's coming.

The Dodgers invaded the Polo Grounds for a three-game series starting Friday night. By whipping Pittsburgh 2-1 Wednesday, the Giants took over second place, a game and a half behind Milwaukee. If they happen to sweep the three-game Brooklyn series, they'll find themselves in the midst of the hottest pennant talk since they knocked off Brooklyn three years ago.

New York got only four hits against Pittsburgh, a single and a home run by weak-hitting Davey Williams and two doubles by Willie Mays. Williams' single figured in the first run; his homer provided the winning margin.

Mays Picks Up

Mays' hitting has been one of the brightest features of the current streak. He's raised his average from .290 to .304 with 10 hits in his last 15 times at bat. Included were two homers, two triples and two doubles.

Brooklyn fell to third Wednesday night, half a game behind the Giants, by bowing to the Philadelphia Phillies 8-6. Milwaukee won its ninth straight, 7-6 over Cincinnati. Chicago crushed St. Louis 15-5.

In the American League the Chicago White Sox closed to within half a game of league-leading Cleveland by beating the Indians 5-4. Washington shaded New York 2-1. Detroit handed Baltimore its sixth loss in succession, 6-3, and Philadelphia shaded Boston 6-5 in 10 innings.

Ennis Bat Star

Del Ennis drove in five runs in support of Robin Roberts and Willie Jones added to the Philadelphia total with a run-scoring triple and a home run. Duke Snider and Gil Hodges homered for Brooklyn.

Eddie Lopat lost to the Senators

The L&R Sports Shop baseball team of the Babe Ruth League will hold a practice session tonight at 6:30 at Webster diamond. Managers Red Holmes and Ed McCarthy ask these players to report, Dean Lewis, John Wilkinson, John Hanson, Charles McCarthy, Bob Hughes, Lester Millette, Gary Wellman, Ronnie Abel, John Picard, Bob Setterlund, David Andrews, Ken Hamilton, Marvin Nault, Billy Rae and Lowell Brazeau.

for the first time in 13 games, since June 26, 1951, when with two out in the last of the ninth he gave up successive singles to Pete Runnels, Ed Fitz Gerald and pinch hitter Jim Lemon. The victory was the fifth straight for Bob Porterfield.

Cincinnati fell one run short of catching up with Milwaukee with a four-run rally in the eighth. The run that made the difference came in the top of the eighth on Danny O'Connell's double, an infield single and a single by Andy Pafko, his fourth hit of the night.

Sauer Hits 13th

Hank Sauer and Dee Fondy led the Chicago wrecking crew against the Cardinals. Sauer hit his 13th homer and drove in four runs. Fondy collected four hits, including a home run.

Chicago's second straight victory over Cleveland came in the last of the ninth when Cass Michaels slammed a Hal Newhouse pitch over Larry Doby's head in center field with the bases loaded. The Indians had tied the score in the top of the ninth on a pinch-hit triple by Joe Ginsberg, his first hit of the season.

Art Houtteman opened the ninth as the Cleveland pitcher but was yanked in favor of Newhouse when he loaded the bases without getting anybody out. Newhouse retired one man on a force at the plate before Michaels unloaded.

Gus Zernial hit a grand-slam home run for the Athletics, who finally edged Boston in the 10th on a pinch-hit single by Bill Renna. A double by Jim Piersall and long flies by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen tied the score in the ninth.

George Zuverink got his first starting assignment of his major league career from Detroit and went the distance to victory over the slumping Orioles despite home runs by Vic Wertz and Sam Mele.

Batting — Andy Pafko, Milwaukee Braves, collected four hits in four times at bat and drove in the run that beat Cincinnati 7-6. Pitching — Bob Porterfield, Washington Senators, outduelled Eddie Lopat in beating the New York Yankees 2-1 for his fifth straight triumph.

By 'OE FALLS
DETROIT (AP)—"I'm an old man. I'm 27. I can't throw that ball like those youngsters. No strikeouts for me. I give them a little bit of this, and a little of that. Nothing overpowering."

Sandy-haired George Zuverink, a solid son of Holland, Mich., was hemmed against his locker by a knot of newspapermen. He was reviewing, with much elation, his first major league start—and his first major league victory.

The 6-foot-4 righthander of the Detroit Tigers beat the Baltimore Orioles 6-3 with a scrambling eight-hitter Wednesday. He was in "dutch" in every inning and was touched for two home runs.

Despite his troubles, Zuverink kept the Baltimore hitters off balance with a tricky sinker ball. "I always could 'throw a sinker,'" he said. "Ev... when I was in Holla... I guess about fifty per cent of my pitches are sinkers."

Fred Hutchinson, Tiger skipper, said Zuverink's work earned him another starting assignment. "I'll probably use him again this weekend. He pitched well."

The Tigers backed Zuverink with a hefty "it attack against loser Don Larsen. Harvey F... hn, in a desperate RBI slump, knocked in three runs with three singles.

Zuverink gave up home runs to Wertz and Sam Mele, the latter with a man on base.

All 500-Mile Race Cars Conventional

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—Gas turbines, high speed supercharged engines and similar experimental auto to power plants will be left in the garages when the 33-car field lines up for the 38th annual 500-mile race Monday.

Every car that survived two weekends of time trials was powered by a four-cylinder, un-supercharged Offenhauser engine manufactured by Meyer & Drake of Los Angeles.

It's basically the same as the Miller engine of the 1920s, refined by Fred Offenhauser and successors Lou Meyer, three-time Indianapolis winner, and Dale Drake.

Big Ten Track, Field Stars Threaten Marks

By JERRY LISK
LA FAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—At least five records will be menaced as returning champions defend in nine of the 13 individual events in the 54th Big Ten outdoor track and field meet Friday and Saturday. Defending champion Illinois, seeking a record fourth straight team crown, and Michigan figure to battle it out for top laurels with Indiana rated a chance to break up the two-team scrap.

Returning champions include two 1953 double winners, Willie Williams of Illinois in the 100 and 200 dashes, and Roland Nilsson, Michigan's exchange student from Sweden, in the shot put and discus.

Williams, aided by a wind, has been clocked in the century at .094, matching Jesse Owens' 1935 conference record.

One of the meet's oldest records, the two-mile clocking of 9:10.4 set by Wisconsin's Walt Mehl in 1938, is expected to succumb to Gene Matthews of Purdue.

Billy Martin Just Another Ballplayer

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Pvt. Billy Martin is just another ballplayer on the 200th Infantry Regiment's baseball team at Camp Carson.

The former Yankee second baseman and 1953 World Series batting star has appeared in two games and got one hit in four at bats. He injured his throwing arm and is relegated to coaching until it heals.

Martin's platoon to which all regimental ballplayers are assigned, does its regular Army training in the morning, and practices or plays in the afternoon.

Isaac Murphy was the first jockey to win the Kentucky Derby three times. He rode in the race 11 times.

Land Mine Fatal To Photographer

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Robert Capa, famed American war photographer, was killed Tuesday in a land mine blast on the Indochina front.

A French high command announcement said the Hungarian-born cameraman died near Phuly, 30 miles south of Hanoi. He was the first American photographer killed in the Indochina war.

Capa, who won fame through his coverage for Life magazine during World War II, came here two weeks ago on a temporary assignment for Life. He had gone to Phuly—an active war sector—to do a story with John Mecklin, a Time magazine correspondent. French sources said Mecklin escaped injury.

The death of Werner Bischof, one of Capa's associates in a cooperative picture agency, was announced in New York Tuesday night. The agency said he was killed last week in an automobile accident in Peru.

Adventists Of U. S. Pick New President; See End Of World

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Reuben R. Figuhr, 58, is the new president of the general conference of Seventh-Day Adventists and will lead that far-flung religious organization for the next four years.

Figuhr, elected Tuesday, succeeds William H. Branson, who announced his retirement Monday. More than 8,000 delegates flocked and prayed Tuesday—praying for success in spiritually preparing mankind for what they believe is the imminent end of the world.

Figuhr restated the firm Adventist belief that Christ's second coming is near.

Russian Propagandists Warn India Against American 'Imperialists'

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
GENEVA (AP)—"The devil I know," said an Indian leader, "is worse than the devil I don't know."

He was trying to explain why anti-American sentiment is rising in India, why Indians profess not to fear any threat of communism from abroad.

"America is capitalist," he said. "Indians relate capitalism to imperialism, and imperialism to colonialism is the devil we know." This came from an Indian leader who is pro-American, and thus is testimony to the strength of Moscow—Peiping propaganda in Asia. Communist efforts have been concentrated upon identifying the United States with colonialism and imperialism.

Lure For Nehru
The Communist Party in India professes to give all-out support to the foreign policy of Prime Minister Nehru and his Congress Party, itself carrying on a grim struggle with the domestic Communists.

The red objective seems to be to drive Nehru into toeing the Communist Chinese line. Nehru does not appear willing to be lured all the way, but apparently he is becoming openly more and more anti-American. He declined an interview, but his supporters say he has these reasons:

1. U. S. military aid to Pakistan. Nothing has so stirred anti-American sentiment. One Indian leader told me this amounted to arming "India's enemy," since there has been no solution to the Indian-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir State.

2. Suggestions in Washington that the war in Indochina might be internationalized. Indian leaders picture the Indochina War as purely one against colonialism. Some of them were so much in the dark about it they had to be briefed by the British before the Colombo Conference last month.

3. Attempts to bring out a Southeast Asia alliance. Indian leaders say this is an invitation for Asia to provide the arena for World War III.

Think They're Misunderstood
4. Statements by Americans about the use of atomic weapons and the prospect of "massive retaliation." Indian leaders portray such statements as heralding a futile attempt to blast communism out of existence rather than trying to outflank communism with better ideas and ideals.

5. Failure to appreciate India's special position. This is the crux of the matter. Indian leaders apparently consider themselves misused by American misunderstanding, consider that they are required to walk an international tightrope because of their geographical position.

Nehru has been facing rising criticism throughout India—particularly in West Bengal and Communist-infested Calcutta—in sharp contrast to his almost unassailable position of a few years ago. There has been talk about his Congress Party is getting soft and tired, that it must produce definite economic results by the next elections in 1957 or prepare to get out of power. Now, apparently, the Congress Party is attempting to step up its efforts in that direction.

Always Suspicious
In foreign policy the Congress Party's worries bring about a sort of solemn masquerade, such as the recent conference on "United State military aid to Pakistan," which I attended in New Delhi.

The convention was unofficial, but obviously had Congress blessing. Speakers criticized the United States in a tired sort of way, as if required to do so. It looked as if such things might be staged primarily to steal Communist thunder on such issues. But, in attempting to pull the rug from under the Communist drives, the Indian politicians themselves gave impetus to anti-American sentiment.

Everything the United States does or offers to do in India is subject to suspicious scrutiny. The United States receives a generally bad press. Anti-Americanism is fanned by professional Communists and opportunists who twist Nehru's statements on international affairs to suit their own purposes.

To retain its dominating position, the Congress Party wants to appear completely independent of the United States and the taint, advertised by the Communists, of "imperialism." Thus Nehru's biggest problem seems to be an attempt to satisfy all shades of opinion, including those within his own party.

Reds Not Idle
For some time to come world communism likely will be satisfied with a neutral India. There is much to digest meanwhile. But the Communists in India are far from idle. They have infiltrated deeply into the Indian press. They have kept up increasing efforts to dominate India's students, source of tomorrow's leadership. They are active in the trade union movement.

Communism's ultimate aim is a coalition of all opposition parties against the Congress Party. Already in some areas the Congress Party owes its dominance only to the fact that the opposition has been split. Should the coalition succeed, the Communists then could operate in the usual pattern—lopping off their temporary allies one by one.

State Senator Wins For Florida Governor

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—State Sen. LeRoy Collins of Tallahassee won the votes of south Florida's heavily populated areas Tuesday to defeat Acting Gov. Charles E. Johns for the two-year unexpired term of the late Gov. Dan McCarty.

Collins, close friend and supporter of the late governor, won by 67,000 votes in the Democratic run-off primary which virtually assures election in this peninsular state of the Deep South.

Unofficial returns from 1,709 of the state's 1,724 precincts gave Collins 371,010 votes to 304,009 for Johns.

He will take office in January, barring an unprecedented and extremely unlikely defeat by Republican J. Tom Watson of Tampa in the November general election.

Johns, who is acting governor because he is State Senate president, will retain his Senate seat.

Young Mother Loses Weight With Rennel

"I am sure that many mothers would take Rennel if they knew the good it would do for them," writes Mrs. J. Murphy, R. No. 4, Owosso, Mich. "I am 24 years old and have three children. The birth of each one brought me a lot of excess weight and bloated which caused me to feel tired and run down. A few bottles of Rennel Concentrate not only made me feel better but the bloated and weight gradually disappeared. Just recently with the help of Rennel I lost nine pounds in twenty days. I think Rennel is a wonderful product and it will always be Rennel for me when I am in need of it." It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain liquid Rennel at your druggist, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rennel.
